Speaking & listening - 25:51

The “Speaking & Listening” Language Program allows students to work on and improve their pronunciation and spoken language skills. This program includes pronunciation exercises and guided speaking activities.

Systematic detection of pronunciation or intonation errors, as well as an oral assessment component, allows students to target their weaker points and helps them to improve.

Students are immersed in an authentic context of everyday spoken language, familiarized with different types of native pronunciation, and simulate conversations on everyday topics. They work on both listening and speaking skills through various activities (videos, dialogues, pronunciation and phonetics exercises, word searches, crosswords, etc.) so as to be able to understand and produce meaningful discourse.

The “Speaking & Listening” Language Program allows students to work on and improve their pronunciation and spoken language skills. This program includes pronunciation exercises and guided speaking activities.

Systematic detection of pronunciation or intonation errors, as well as an oral assessment component, allows students to target their weaker points and helps them to improve.

Students are immersed in an authentic context of everyday spoken language, familiarized with different types of native pronunciation, and simulate conversations on everyday topics. They work on both listening and speaking skills through various activities (videos, dialogues, pronunciation and phonetics exercises, word searches, crosswords, etc.) so as to be able to understand and produce meaningful discourse.

Speaking & Listening - 26:20

The “Speaking & Listening” Language Program allows students to work on and improve their pronunciation and spoken language skills. This program includes pronunciation exercises and guided speaking activities.

Systematic detection of pronunciation or intonation errors, as well as an oral assessment component, allows students to target their weaker points and helps them to improve.

Students are immersed in an authentic context of everyday spoken language, familiarized with different types of native pronunciation, and simulate conversations on everyday topics. They work on both listening and speaking skills through various activities (videos, dialogues, pronunciation and phonetics exercises, word searches, crosswords, etc.) so as to be able to understand and produce meaningful discourse.
